Q: How do I prove that $P(a,b) \leq a^2b^2$ when both $a, b \geq 0$? I have a proof by contradiction and I need to find the case in which this relationship fails to hold (i.e. $P(a,b) > a^2b^2$), but I cannot find a single case. Can someone help me out? A: We have $P(a,b) = a^2b^2 + 2a^2b + ab^2$. $P(a,b) > a^2b^2$ is equivalent to $ab(a-b) > 0$, which is equivalent to $a < b$. A: The relationship $P(a,b) \leq a^2b^2$ is equivalent to $a^2b^2 + ab + 2a^2b \leq ab^2 + a^2b + ab^2$ implies $2a^2 + b \leq 3a^2 + a^2 + a^2b$ But note that $2a^2 + b \leq 3a^2 + a^2 + a^2b$ implies $2a^2 + b \leq 2(3a^2 + a^2 + a^2b)$ We can do the same proof with b replaced by a and get $\left(\frac{b}{a}\right)^2 + \frac{a}{b} + 2a \leq 3a^2 + a + a^2$ which is true iff $a \leq 1$. In summary, the relationship $P(a,b) \leq a^2b^2$ is true if and only if $a \leq 1$. Westbrook, James (1725 - 1794) Puritan James was born in Lyme Regis, Dorset in 1725. Are you using our property search tool to find your dream holiday home in South Africa? The VILLA MARBELLA is one of our top picks for this year, and for good reason! This South African holiday home is a little off the beaten track and for that you get a bit of a quirky, rural atmosphere, but just a short drive to South Africa's bustling resort town of Hermanus. Our two friends who visited in September had a great time, relaxing by the pool and taking in the beautiful views from the top of the hill where this holiday home is located. The spa room on offer is particularly nice, and has a spa bath, shower, double mattress on a raised platform with oversized, comfortable flat screened bed. The room has a separate bath with a shower, as well as a seating area, television, cupboard and armchair and has its own entrance off the veranda. This is a self-catering holiday home where you pay a clean and secure fee and have a full kitchen to cook your own meal as well as a dishwasher and washing machine. The rate per month is for two people. This is our home and we are often here to look after the property so make sure you check out our contact information. I got your e-mail. This looks good to us. I just heard from Cindy in credit and she tells me she is going to send out a group response to all the service providers stating that we will be doing business with a credit check on all counterparties. I have explained to her that we want to get done now. I told her that we had all the agreements we need to with the exception of the financial deal. I would be happy to go to the counterparty and get your names put into the system. We will be doing business with a counterparty if: 1) the counterparty is a party to the physical agreement 2) the counterparty is a party to the location specific physical agreement 3) the counterparty was a party to the master agreement
