ubuntu one yahoo other I would like to remove all the items from my couchdb. I was reading in CouchDB wiki that it can be done using some command line parameters, but I am not sure how to use these, so I would appreciate if someone could point out the right direction A: Here's how to do it with couchdb-tools: ~/couchdb_tools$ couchdb-bulk Usage: couchdb-bulk [OPTION]... DB_URI... Options: -V, --verbose Print out CouchDB's output to stdout. --header-filter HEADER_FILTER Filter out HEADER lines with a specified header name. Defaults to "Accept", "Credentials" --no-header-filter Show the header lines, but do not filter them. --numeric-header-filter Show the numeric lines and their associated header in a single, sorted table. --head-only Print only the header. --no-header Don't print out the header. --column FILE Print the header lines for the given column file. --column-name COLUMN_ 82157476af
